Downtown GC Seen As Pace Setter

SIU Research Survey Report Outlines Ills, Potentials As Leader

Granite City faces a dramatic challenge if it is to be successful in creating a vital, community central business district center, according to a study of the downtown district just completed by the Business Research Bureau of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

The city could become the "pace setter," or leader in social, economic and cultural activities in the Illinois sector of the greater bi-state metropolitan area, according to the report, but effective promotional programs tied directly to an improved central business district are required.

The report, composed of more than 200 pages, is entitled "Central Business District, Granite City, Ill.: A Study in Independent Business Community within a Metropolitan Area." Downtown businessmen financed the research project.

In presenting it, the research bureau proposed three options to downtown businessmen if they are to at least maintain their current status or to improve and grow with the community.

Most Ambitious Proposal
The third option is the most progressive and requires the aid of all elements within the social, economic and political spheres of the community if the city is to achieve a "pace setter" standing.

It involves development of a master plan for the area, using every resource available through local, state and federal programs, consideration of urban renewal, traffic control, encouragement of new businesses, significant promotional programs and the creative thinking necessary to implement the master plan as well as to develop a uniqueness in the function of the community to the greater area.

Zoning Stressed
The report stresses that zoning is a critical element. "It must be made extremely difficult for shopper-oriented commercial enterprises to locate outside the central business district, within the corporate limits of Granite City. This zoning program should be integrated with any area-wide plan under consideration by local and regional planning groups."

Urban renewal also is deemed important in the report, and researchers say the city should take every measure of priority for those programs that allow for significant changes in the physical structure of the community.

Within this plan for change, the report says serious consideration should be given to the following:

Girl, 3, Recovering From Severe Dogbites
Laura Lynn Jass, three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jass, 4603 Kirkpatrick Homes, is recuperating at her home from severe head cuts inflicted by a police dog that was being trained by her grandfather, Kendall Bernick.

She was brought home Tuesday from the Doctor's Hospital, Poplar Bluff, Mo., where she was taken after the attack Sunday night at the Bernick home. Her grandfather, a former Granite Cityan, is sheriff of Greenville, Mo.

As the group arrived at the Bernick home from a picnic, the dog struck suddenly. By the time he could be pulled away from the girl's father and grandfather, she had suffered bites that required 200 head stitches, including the skin and the layer beneath it, and 18 stitches to the right eye. She underwent surgery for three and a half hours.

A neighbor shot the German shepherd dog, which had been in final training three weeks. Preliminary training for such dogs includes treatment intended to make them friendly to the eventual handler but unfriendly to other people.

Stamps, 2 Others Facing Death

Supreme Court Review Due; 4th Man in Prison Riot Also Found Guilty

(Special from Springfield)

The death sentence was recommended for three of four convicted found guilty of murdering three guards during the Menard prison riot last Nov. 23 as their marathon trial came to an end Tuesday in the Sangamon county circuit court at Springfield.

Facing death in the electric chair are John W. Stamps, 27, of Granite City; Alonzo H. Jones, 27, of Manchester, Tenn.; and William E. Bassett, 27, of Fairfield, Ill.

No recommendation was made for the fourth convict, found guilty. He is Prentiss Ray Griffin, 27, of Chicago, who is subject to a minimum sentence of 14 years.

Appeals to the Illinois Supreme Court in the death penalty cases are automatic, and Circuit Judge Croel Douglas gave defense attorneys until Nov. 1 to file post trial motions. He indicated that extensions would be granted if requested.

Court spokesmen expected that the State Supreme Court will consider the case in about a year.

Displays Emotion
Stamps was the only one of the four to display emotion when the jury of 11 men and one woman returned with the verdict at 11:40 a.m.

After hearing the verdict read by the clerk of the court, Stamps grimaced, pushed a finger on the table as though pressing the button for the electric chair, and sounded "Bzz, bzz, bzz." As he walked past the jury on the way to his cell, he said "Thank you."

Before leaving, he shook hands with his defense attorney, Richard Shakeroff of Alton, and remarked, "Good job Shaky—it wasn't your fault."

Before the jury reported, he looked at his mother and sister at the back of the courtroom and winked at them. His mother was sobbing.

His sister later told a reporter,

Area Traffic Deaths Already Equal to Total for Last Year

With four months to go, the Quad-Cities area already has equaled traffic deaths occurring in all of 1965. So far this year, 23 persons have died in area crashes.

August was a severe month in the area as four deaths, along with 111 injuries were recorded in 183 traffic accidents.

Totals for the first eight months of the year are 1316 accidents with 25 deaths and 884 injuries.

These compare with the 1965 eight-month totals of 1442 accidents with 17 deaths and 669 injuries. In 1964, there were 15 deaths and 712 injuries in 1460 crashes during the same eight-month period; while in 1963, the eight-month totals were 24 fatalities and 543 injuries in 1119 accidents.

The August statistics did not record for the year, since they were surpassed in most categories during April when there also were four deaths and 142 injuries in 204 crashes.

There has been only one month this year without at least two traffic deaths, and the peak month was June with five fatalities. Also that month, there were 108 injuries in the 100 mishaps.

Two deaths due to traffic accidents were recorded in January, February and July—along with the five in June, and four each in April and August.

Heavy Travel by Quad-Cityans is Expected this Weekend

(Related Story on Page 28)
Red alert for the long Labor Day holiday weekend will start at noon Friday and will continue through midnight on Monday, Labor Day.

Announcement of the alert was made by Capt. Emil Toffant of Madison, commander of the local area state highway patrol district.

TANK CAR OF PROPANE GAS burns brightly, sending thick streams of smoke skyward, following derailment of 23 cars of a Peoria-bound Illinois Terminal Railroad train at 4:30 a.m. today near the old Lakeside airport. Route 35 was blocked to traffic because of danger of explosion.

ITR Train Derails Today Near Lakeside, Gas Burns

A tank car loaded with propane gas exploded and burned when 23 cars of an Illinois Terminal Railroad freight train derailed at about 4:30 a.m. today along Route 35 about 400 yards west of the old Lakeside airport. No one was hurt.

State police blocked the highway to traffic at Route 162 because of danger of further explosions, but left an access to the Arlington Heights subdivision.

Bright flames and thick black smoke, visible for miles, made it impossible to approach the tank car which was still burning late this morning.

The Long Lake volunteer fire department was called at 5 a.m., and a truck from the Granite City fire department arrived later. Both departments stayed at the scene on a stand-by basis after it was decided to let the fire burn out because of the risk of explosion. A demolition expert was on hand.

The fire apparently was caused by compression of the gas due to the force of the impact. The derailment is believed to have been caused by a flaw in the tracks. Train crewmen said the entire section of track has been in bad condition.

The train had left the McKinley junction and was headed for Peoria. The right-of-way was blocked, and an ITR spokesman said no idea when it would be cleared. Other trains were rerouted over Illinois Central tracks.

Merchandise in other cars in the train included lumber and steel pipe.

City Mails Sewage Plant Bills Today

The first bills for Granite City's new sewage treatment plant bonds were mailed today to more than 7000 householders by the office of Comptroller Robert Stevens.

The bills covering a three-month period are for $2.70 each. They are payable within 10 days at the city hall, and payments may be made by bill. Penalties will be assessed on delinquent bills.

An explanatory letter, listing rates for various types of users, signed by Mayor Parney, accompanied each bill.

Stevens said that bills to occupants of multiple dwellings will be mailed in about 10 days, to industries next week and to business establishments in about three weeks.

Penalties will be assessed on delinquent bills. The committee is stressing "Observe traffic laws and rules of the road, be alert and use common courtesy to put a halt to the upward spiral of lost lives."

Capt. Toffant said all days off are being cancelled for troopers, but he has not yet received notification if state airplanes are to aid in highway patrolling of the 11th District area.

hurt in 26 crashes. The governor's committee is hopeful that through the "Light Up and Live" campaign, that many motorists will be alerted to the heavy-traffic hazards as they see headlights burning on other autos.

The committee is stressing "Observe traffic laws and rules of the road, be alert and use common courtesy to put a halt to the upward spiral of lost lives."

Capt. Toffant said all days off are being cancelled for troopers, but he has not yet received notification if state airplanes are to aid in highway patrolling of the 11th District area.

Other showers in August included a half-inch on the 10th, .09-inch on the 11th, .18-inch on the 13th, .08-inch on the 14th, .25-inch on the 16th, .45-inch on the 19th and .10-inch on the 22nd.

There was no rain during the last nine days of the month.

Biggest Deficit in June
The area's rainfall deficit was greatest in June, when only 1.31-inch was recorded—far below the normal 4.28 inches. It continued in July with only 1.73-inch, compared to the normal total of 3.20 inches.

Other months falling below the normal figures were March with 1.41 inch instead of 2.34 inches and May with 2.58 inches instead of 3.73.

Jr. High Student Hit by Auto on Opening Day in GC

A junior high school student was struck and injured by an auto on Nameoek road in front of Coolidge school yesterday afternoon—the first day of school.

In 11 other area mishaps this week, eight persons, including two motorists, a bicyclist and a young pedestrian were hurt.

A Cahokia man injured last week on McKinley Bridge died yesterday morning at the local hospital.

School Zone Accident
Carl Harrison Jr., 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harrison, 2133 Woodlawn avenue, was struck by an auto driven by James W. Hicks, 17, of 2409 Logan street, in front of Coolidge junior high school at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, 15 minutes after the first day of school was dismissed.

The boy, an eighth grader at Coolidge, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with abrasions and contusions to the face and left forearm and was reported to be in fair condition today. His father is a custodian at Parkview school.

Hicks and two witnesses said the boy ran in front of the car from behind a bread truck and he was unable to stop. Hicks said he had just left the school parking lot and was headed north when the mishap occurred. There was a line of traffic which was stopped on Spry street.

Police received accounts from witnesses. Young Harrison said he did not remember a bread truck but thought he had walked out from behind an auto.

A girl said she did not remember a bread truck and claimed that Hicks was going 40 miles per hour when the auto struck the boy. She said he was thrown up in the air about 25 feet.

Hicks said when the accident

August was Good—But Area Still Short on Rain Total

August rainfall totaling 2.86 inches — the greatest amount since the 2.88 inches recorded in 1958 — topped the 1965 3.02-inch normal precipitation for the month and the area still is 3.66 inches short of the year's total.

However, Quad-Cityans look toward the 2.88 inches as a summertime blessing. While the rains failed in many instances to save farm crops, the showers did bring relief from the extremely hot, dry July weather and did restore most lawns.

Temperatures during August averaged slightly under 75 degrees, or nearly three degrees below normal.

Opened with Downpour
Actually, Quad-Cityans were expecting more 100-degree weather with little rain, but August started off strong with a 1.34-inch rain recorded on the morning of the second day at the gauge maintained by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at the Chain of Rock canal locks.

Other showers in August included a half-inch on the 10th, .09-inch on the 11th, .18-inch on the 13th, .08-inch on the 14th, .25-inch on the 16th, .45-inch on the 19th and .10-inch on the 22nd.

Surplus precipitation was recorded in January with 2.39 inches of snow and rain topping the normal figure of 1.88 inch; February with 2.97 inches, slightly over the 2.04 inches considered normal and April with an even five inches that exceeded the 3.71-inch normal amount.

Local Pilot Honored by S. Vietnam Govt.

"A proud, but quiet people, whose inordinate capacity for patience may sometimes be mistaken for indifference by Americans," is the description given by the South Vietnamese people by Capt. Terrence Hobbs, USAF, who recently completed his second tour of duty in South Vietnam. While serving there, he was awarded the Vietnam Medal of Honor for meritorious service by South Vietnam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The Air Force officer, a former local resident, addressed his remarks Monday evening to members of the Granite City Kiwanis Club, at the Rose Bowl restaurant.

Sixteen members attended and four guests, William Russell, and Randall and John Irwin, all local relatives of the guest speaker. Kiwanian Donald Russell, an uncle, introduced Capt. Hobbs.

A 1950 graduate of Granite City high school, Capt. Hobbs was employed at Granite City Steel Co., prior to enlisting in the U. S. Navy in 1952. He received an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, from where he was graduated in 1957 and selected an Air Force Commission, taking flight training at Bartow Air Force Base in Florida.

He is the son of the late Mrs. Lucille Hobbs of Granite City and the grandson of Mrs. Nellie Russell, 181 Primrose avenue, at whose home Capt. Hobbs and his family are guests. He and his wife, Eleanor, asked the guests of two sons, Bryan, seven years and Barry, six years.

Capt. Hobbs returned to the United States Aug. 8, arriving here Sunday. The family plans to depart Wednesday for Wiesbaden, Germany, where the officer will be stationed for the next three years in the engineering division, at headquarters of the United States Air Force in Europe (USAFE).

The Vietnam returnee told the local service club, "If the war could be won with patience, we (the U. S.) would not need to be in Vietnam. The South Vietnamese continue patiently to endure great hardships, confident that victory will eventually come."

He continued, "The immense feeling of gratitude toward the efforts of the United States is expressed from all elements of the populace, who fully realize that without such help they cannot hope to achieve victory."

Capt. Hobbs suggested that when discussing the Vietnamese war with friends, Kiwanians relate to them the grateful thanks of the South Vietnamese people, as he had been asked to do before leaving that country.

Acting as a support group advisor to the South Vietnamese Air Force in the Bien Hoa area, Capt. Hobbs said that he had lived entirely with South Viet units during his last tour of the Vietnam Medal of Honor and duty. He had learned to speak the language, he said, although he admitted that, along with most Americans, he still was unable to detect a Viet Cong from the South Vietnamese, "other than under direct combat conditions."

Capt. Hobbs added that nine times out of ten, the South Vietnamese can recognize a Viet Cong suspect within a few moments of conversation, a trick he was unable to master.

No actual front lines mark the combat zones," the officer continued. "Sometimes it's difficult to know where they begin and end, unless someone is shooting at you."

He graphically illustrated his statement by displaying a color slide, taken alongside a road, which showed a group of civilians photographing a U. S. Air Force napalm drop on a suspected Viet Cong stronghold.

Vietnamese mother, holding a child in her arms, also stood quietly by observing the destruction.

Despite their quiet unassuming persons, a characteristic of the Vietnamese, Capt. Hobbs said from personal contact with hundreds of individuals, his complete devotion to the job at hand and an intense desire to fight as hard as necessary to win freedom.

He added that he had talked several occasions and found him to be an outstanding person. It is through the efforts of leaders such as Gen. Ky that the country will become united," Capt. Hobbs said. He explained that he felt unqualified to express an opinion on the outcome of the coming elections in Vietnam, as he had left the country while plans were in their formative stages.

One of the greatest problems for U. S. forces fighting in Vietnam is the difficulty in locating Viet Cong installations or weapon caches.

He explained the favorite tactic of the Viet Cong is to utilize up to 100 persons each carrying parts of a weapon, which are later assembled in a new combat area.

This method of transporting equipment may extend over a two-week period in order to assemble only one weapon and makes it virtually impossible to pinpoint a concentrated target area for bombing missions," he said.

While at the Bien Hoa Air Base, Capt. Hobbs was a member of a regular night patrol, whose purpose it was to keep Viet Cong guerrillas away from the base. A tactic of the Viet Cong was to creep within short distance and shell the base with mortar fire, he explained.

Bronze Star Recommended

For his part in the night patrol duty, Capt. Hobbs was awarded units during his last tour of the Vietnam Medal of Honor and was recommended for the U. S. Bronze Star medal. The two medals are awarded only for meritorious service in a combat area. The Air Force officer also has received the Vietnamese Commemorative Medal.

In other business, Kiwanians heard a request from a group of race boat drivers, who are seeking to hold a second marathon boat race this fall. Lou Cooley of St. Louis, who won the 46-mile marathon event for large craft in the recent Bow Line Boat Club-Kiwanis sponsored race on the Mississippi River, told club members that several drivers are interested in competing in another racing event under sponsorship of the two clubs.

Kiwanis President Peter Jelfen, who conducted the meeting, and William Seibold, races co-chairman, were authorized to meet with drivers and representatives of the Bow Line Club, and consider the proposition.

Local Modeler Wins in World Championships

The telegram read: "All systems GO—spectacular flight—1st place—world championship—congratulations—Bob Gialadini." And thus, the Warren "Pete" MacZura has learned that Pete's entry in the World Model Plane Championships in England had taken top honors.

MacZura, an operating engineer for Local 520 and a 15-year member of model airplanes, had entered his Gialadini 4 scale model by proxy in the global event concluded Tuesday. International stunt flying champion Bob Gialadini of Milwaukee piloted the craft for MacZura.

The win represents the first international model plane triumph for a Quad-Cityan and the first time that scale model has been a part of the competition, due to difficulties in gaining sponsors for the event.

More Tickets For Illinois MU Game Trip

Harold Brown, Granite City park superintendent, announced today that 33 tickets remain for the Illinois-Missouri football game, set for Saturday, Sept. 24, at Champaign.

Reservations at $8.75 per person, including cost of a $5 stadium admission ticket and round-trip transportation, may be made at the Wilson Park office.

He said the initial 90 tickets acquired by the park district, representing two busloads, were quickly snapped up by local fans. An additional 41 tickets were obtained this week.

Reservations will be on a first-come, first-served basis, Brown explained. Enroute home, the three buses will stop at a restaurant where passengers may purchase a meal.

Approximately 300,000 veterans who served in the U. S. Armed Forces since Jan. 31, 1955, are expected to enter college this fall under the provisions of the new GI Bill.

'Double O' Event Tops Area Track Racing Bill

St. Charles hobby car racer Sonny Burton will be out after his third consecutive "Double O" victory Saturday night at Tri-City Speedway.

A good bet to be crowding Burton is St. Louisian Gary Greer, a checkered-flag recipient in the track's last two regular programs.

Also in this third running of the "Double O" will be tender-rippers Bobby Stanton and Louis Jansen of Alton, Behafo's Louis Jansen and St. Louis' Jess Pruett.

GILDING THE GRIDIRON in preparation for Trojan football season are Elmer Smith, spraying, while Charles Beaton and Paul Besserman, all of the Madison street department, assist. In the background, construction—that has disrupted the Trojans' shower room and dressing facilities—can be seen in progress as a new girls' gymnasium goes up.

Team Attitude, Spirit Are Good Trojan Drill Scenes Hum as Frosh Report

Trojanland's practice field was a scene of busy, intense activity this week.

Adding to panorama was the largest crop of freshmen drillers in some years—44 in all.

Coaches Cy Kempfer and Ed Timmons agreed that, on the whole, the freshmen seem a little larger than last year, when only 30 were out.

Suiting Up Today

"I expect about seven or eight more boys," said Timmons, as he studied the platoon of yearlings clad in gym shorts and white socks, waiting for their first 30 minutes consisting of varied group calisthenics and lots of running.

Second half of the practice session has found the freshmen getting the feel of the ball, with the coaches splitting the group into two pass-drill squads. Initial game on the fresh live-cut test slate is with Coolidge Sept. 22.

Sophomore Drills

Over on the other side of the field, Coaches Bill Logan and Joe Asperger are concentrating on the large group of sophomores. Here, Kempfer and Asperger for linemen and concentrated passing drills for backfield players.

Everywhere, the scene is more concentration, more detailed in structure, more precision as head coach Pickering and his assistants busily knit together the various elements of the Trojan picture.

Pickering, still conscious of shortages in various departments, commented, "If attitude and team spirit mean anything, we'll win some games this fall."

Tempo Increases

Line coach Charles Steptoe has increased the tempo of his work with linemen and centers. Working first with hand-held pads, he details angle blocking, often becoming the target himself as he drills the linemen to take him out of an imaginary play.

Then come hard, face-to-face pit drills as two linemen square up, bone-crushing one-on-one encounters. Finally, Pickering, who has had the backfield group going through running and passing plays, invites Steptoe and the linemen to come over.

In a buildup to a half-hour of limited scrimmage, the varsity goes through a series of point-of-play drills in which a Trojan lineman becomes the "defense" between two stand-up dummies.

As Pickering directs offense units as to which way to take the play, it is the defense's job to clobber the action.

Trying Everybody

After a few sets at defense, the front line changes to offense, as every lineman goes into the slot. On each side, the Trojan cheer and encourage the one-man defender.

At this early point, names and positions still have little significance. "We're trying everybody right now," Pickering said, stopping long enough to publicly criticize a play with his characteristic, "My mother can drive harder than that!"

Warrior Alumni Practicing in Early Sessions

Many Warrior alumni have been participating in the early workouts on Granite City high's practice field, sparking sideline discussions as to just who is better and what is what this year. The burly players would be welcome in the GCHS lineup but have graduated into the college ranks.

Four alumni at Peru State were seen at Warrior workouts, these being quarterback Doug Winfield, halfback Nick Perillo, tackle Chuck Mizerski and end Ron Yates.

Also at Peru State are tight end George Moore and Jim Rains, a kicking specialist and quarterback candidate.

Also observed at Warrior practice sets were Jerry McKechn, guard and linebacker at Western Illinois in Macomb, and Mike Rousseau, center at Valparaiso. Joe Hauptman, defensive end at Missouri, was out with his former teammates. He has a teammate at MU in the person of fullback Joe Hiles.

John Evenden was another ex-Warrior observed at practice sessions. He is at Iowa at defensive guard this year.

The sidelines at early Warrior drills were populated by other alumni such as Gary Johnson, footballing at Arkansas State this year as a fullback. Teammates there as well are halfbacks Rick Turner and Leonard Revelle.

Eric Robertson is another Warrior alumni at DePaul this fall. He is a guard and linebacker. Southwest Missouri at Cape Girardeau has two Warrior alumni of this year—Ernie Kern, a guard and linebacker, and end Steve Johnson.

Northeast Missouri at Kirksville also sports two ex-Warriors in the persons of Ed Brokaw, a guard, and Jerry Lybarger, who lost a year of eligibility due to transferring.

Two Warrior alumni are at Illinois State University this fall—Center Fred Hoffman and tackle Jim Parker.

And representing Granite City at Illinois University again is Terry Line, middle guard.

Sophomores in Separate Drills Warriors in Battle For Starting Roles

Full-scale battles for various positions erupted at Warriorville practice this week. A tug-of-war for fullback, already existing between 188-pound Dan Partney and 182-pound Jim Hentzel, now includes Kenny Strong.

Strong, a senior like the other two, was out with injuries last year but is coming along in good shape now, according to mentor Morrison.

Seniors Keith Gauen, Danny Wilson and Rich Paoli all are battling for wingback starting jobs. Heaviest of these senior candidates is Wilson at 180.

Halfback Scuffle

A junior quarterback-turned-halfback crowding in for starting picture is Ronnie Laws. Competition at this busy backfield intersection is already keen with senior Ron Turner and junior Ron Sheppard bidding strongly.

Quarterback? It could just be senior Steve Conway, a boy who really came to play football this year, according to Morrison. But if an ankle sprain doesn't hinder him too much, he is bound to stiff competition here.

Snelson is a little up on Conner. Yesterday's practice was somewhat unusual in that, with only glimpses of fast breakaway potential in the scrimmage action—early, which is being stepped up 2-45.

A real doogit is being seen at the end department. Captain Terry Moore has the right line-flanker spot fairly well in hand. Tom "Wyrstek" mentoring the defense, Stan Wojcik and head coach Morrison led two alternating offensive squads in sock 'em scrummaging.

A lot of sifting, shifting, separating and substituting in Warriorville this week.

A technique of surgical relief for poor blood circulation to heart muscles was developed by medical research at the Otten, N.C., Veterans Administration Gann and 185-pound Chris Pat-hospital.

Moss Wins Net Men's Singles In Park Event

Dave Moss handed John VanBuskirk in 62, 6-2 sets to take the men's singles at the Granite City Park District's Tennis Tournament concluded this week.

Al and Bob Malotki won the father and son doubles event from Bill and Jim Hillmer 4-6, 7-5 and 6-2. Al Malotki then went on to capture the men's 35 and over event.

Virginia Bazzarh won the women's singles by defeating DeAnn Creek 6-1, 6-1.

John VanBuskirk won the boys' 18-and-under singles from Bob Malotki 3-6, 6-3. Then Malotki teamed with Louis Mehl to defeat Van Buskirk and Jim Hillmer 6-7 and 8-6 in the junior 18-and-under doubles.

VanBuskirk also took the boys' 16-under singles, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3 from Louis Mehl. Terry Baler defeated Mike Loftus 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 in boys' 14-under singles. Billy Rusk defeated Mike Stephens 6-4, 6-4 to take boys' 12-under singles and defeated John Bruch 6-0, 6-1 to win boys' 10-under singles.

Trojans Start Cross Country

Coach Earl McLanahan was busily signing up cross country athletes yesterday as Madison's tri-club gear for another season. About 25 boys reported for physical examinations.

The construction on the girls' gymnasium, which has disrupted football dressing room facilities, promises to be a problem for McLanahan as well. "We still don't know exactly when we'll start our workouts or even how this will force us to change the meet course," the Madison mentor said.

Trojans open the 1966 cross-country season with Roxana in a meet on the Shells' course Sept. 20. First home meet on this season's schedule is with Cahokia the following week.

Ordinarily, the Trojan harriers compete on a course circling the football gridiron and the perimeter of the practice field. This year's construction might alter the course somewhat.

Flag Football Officials and Coaches Needed

Coaches, and especially of linemen, are needed for Wilson Park's 1966 flag football program. There will be a meeting tonight at 7:30 in the park office for orienting coaches and those involved in the program.

Park Supt. Harold Brown especially invites college students at SIU-SW who have had some football experience to contact him at TR 7-3059. "It's a good chance for students to pick up some spending money," Brown said.

"Our games start at 9 a.m. on Saturday and run for an hour," Brown explained, adding, "we use two ball fields and usually play five games on each one. We might play some games on Friday and Saturday nights at the lighted softball diamond."

8-10 Weeks

Running for eight to ten weeks, the program this season figures to have about 16 teams, in three leagues. For park district residents, the only fee is the $1 insurance cost. For non-residents, there is the additional $3 entry fee.

As for coaches, they will be in charge of a team and expected to practice at least once a week prior to the Saturday schedules.

Team player limit is 18. All three leagues this year will feature eight-man team play.

Kickoff date for the program is Sept. 10.

Inter-City Loop Flags Up For Grabs Over Labor Day Weekend

Does anyone want to forecast the final Southwestern Illinois Inter-City League standings after the approaching 11-game Labor Day weekend?

Not only are first and second place in both divisions up for grabs, but third place in the Red division is equally in doubt.

And the schedule makers couldn't have made things more exciting because the destiny of both division finishes is dependent upon the outcome of inter-division games.

Mitchell, Hearts at Home
Sharpest interest figures to be on Mercer and Collinsville, which clash Sunday at Fletcher Field in a 2:30 p.m. game. But the 2:30 p.m. game at Mitchell, which hosts Pocahontas, is equally vital.

And at Wilson Park, Troy and Hearts-Library Home will be in a last-ditch battle for third-place payoff position in another 2:30 p.m. game.

Pitching, a scarce commodity just now, will be the key for all four pennant chasers this weekend. Said Mercer's helmsman Don Crabtree, "I'll go with Bruce Thompson Sunday at Collinsville and let Monday worry about itself."

Face Collinsville Ace
Collinsville's ace, Eddie Albrecht, will likely face Mercer Sunday. But what about Monday's game when the Motor Boys travel to Pocahontas? Pocahontas must be out to win if it hopes to stay in the Blue Division running.

Albrecht, a real workhorse, pitched last Sunday morning in the Fountain of Youth championship and was clubbed for 14 hits the same afternoon when East St. Louis Harper beat Collinsville.

As for the other local Sunday affair, Hearts-Library Home and Troy, while scrapping it out at Wilson Park, will be alert for what happens at Jones Park in East St. Louis.

A Speller's Role
Mitchell, still smarting from the double defeat at the hands of Pocahontas July 31, can be spoiler supreme in its Sunday game. Losing this one, Pocahontas' record would go to 15-6. Mercer, even losing both its remaining games, would then be Blue Division champs.

As for the other local Sunday affair, Hearts-Library Home and Troy, while scrapping it out at Wilson Park, will be alert for what happens at Jones Park in East St. Louis.

Sunday's Schedule
Troy at Hearts-Library Home, 2:30 p.m.; Wilson Park Pocahontas at Mitchell, 2:30 p.m.; rear of Mitchell School Mercer at Collinsville, 2:30 p.m.; Fletcher Field East St. Louis Harper at Maryville (2), 2:30 p.m.; East Alton at East St. Louis Polish-American War Veterans

Monday's Schedule
Hearts-Library Home at Mercer, 2:30 p.m.; Wilson Park Mitchell at East Alton, 2:30 p.m.; Alton diamond Collinsville at Pocahontas Maryville at Troy East St. Louis Polish-American at East St. Louis Harper trans team has only 12 losses. If it wins Sunday, second place is beyond the grasp of both the Hearts and Troy.

But East Alton, like Mitchell whom it hosts Labor Day, has no place to go in the standings. East Alton will figure to be out for some spoiling of its own.

the downstate fisherman

by pete brown

Throughout the summer, reports have filtered into this column that bass and crappie fishing has been unusually good on of all places, the Big Muddy River. Now come some scientific evidence that the river's game fish population is definitely increasing.

William Lewis, director of the Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory at Southern Illinois University, says periodic samplings all summer long show a "marked buildup" in bass and crappie numbers on the Big Muddy.

Lewis attributes it to escapement of fish from reservoirs in the river watershed. If the trend continues, he says, a much-improved gamefish balance may be sustained in the Big Muddy for some time to come. While most of the sampling was done in the lower end of the river, Lewis suspects the upswing is characteristic of its full extent.

Samplings turned up a preponderance of two and three pound bass. Lewis suspects the bass will be more "catchable" than usual because of abnormal population pressures in the river compared to those in the reservoirs where the bass came from.

The summary at Little Grassy is just fair, but the lake again can claim "biggest-of-the-week" honors. The claimant is Arthur Lake of West Frankfort, who hung into a seven pounder while trolling. He yielded up another slightly under five pounds. Eugene Norman, Decatur, caught 25 crappie up to 1 1/4 pounds.

Crab Orchard rates fair to nothing, depending on whom you talk to. Nick Masters and companion of Carbondale hit for five good ones in a trip, but Al Peithman drew blanks.

Many lake bassophiles say stump blasting activities at Crab Orchard, particularly in the Snake Island area, have spooked the prey. The fish and Wildlife Service contracted a demolition team to remove stumps deemed hazardous to boaters.

Carlo Riggio of Murphysboro hit his hometown lake for six fine bass up to 5 1/2 pounds, one of the best catches there all year. He was using a plastic worm and catch is up at Murphy, but pestiferous weeds, under control briefly, appear to be creeping back.

Strippers have been hitting briskly on the Ohio at Golconda and Joe Congiarolo of Murphysboro lugged home 40 averaging three pounds apiece. He was using a small jig and the Mirror.

Supt. Brown

Headed Many Drives, Boards

Mr. Brown served on the Granite City library board for 10 years and was its president from 1950 to 1962. He was chairman of the 1949 Tri-Cities Community Chest campaign and three times headed the Quad-City Red Cross fund drive. He was active in the Granite City civil defense council from its inception.

One of the organizers of the Coordinated Youth Services, he served as a YMCA director and officer many years. He was a former Quad-City Boy Scout district commissioner, a Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council board member, a former Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce director and former Chamber of Commerce Education Committee chairman.

Native of Venice
Born in Venice, Mr. Brown moved with his parents six years later to Granite City. He attended local schools, graduating from Granite City high school, and in 1927 received a bachelor of arts degree from McKendree College, Lebanon, where he majored in English, social studies and education. In 1922, after receiving a master degree in educational administration from the University of Illinois, he began a 24-year association with the Granite City school district.

On the high school faculty until 1932, he next served a year as principal jointly of Washington and Logan grade schools. He was Emerson and Washington grade school principal from 1933 to 1945.

Named Superintendent in 1943
In 1943 Mr. Brown was promoted to superintendent of the grade school district, remaining in that post until the consolidation with the community high school district seven years later.

A member of the Masonic order for 38 years and a Legion of Honor award winner, Brown had been a member of Niedringhaus Methodist Church, where he taught a married couples' Sunday school class, served as a trustee and was president of the church board of education and the men's Bible class. He was currently active in the First Methodist Church of Madison.

His educational organizations included Phi Delta Kappa, the Illinois Education Association, National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators. Nine Teams Have Been Eliminated

Six teams in the tournament have drawn first-round byes.

Team manager John Crnkovich and business manager Andrew Misley related that 40 people will be making the trip.

There are 17 team members, and most are taking the distaff half of the family along. There will be no children making the trip.

The entire group will be staying at South Cleveland Holiday Inn No. 4 off the Indiana-Ohio turnpike. It is only a few minutes from Parma.

Third Tourney Trip
Only one member of the team reported difficulty in getting off work for the trip, and he hopes to switch around in order to go.

Last year, Polish Hall was unfortunate in World tournament play, dropping two consecutive games.

The previous year, the club won a pair of games in the tremendously competitive tournament.

Three-year-old Theresa Gail Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Casey, 4929 Redwood lane, was bitten by a dog at 19th street and Madison avenue between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. yesterday. She was injured on her eye lid and beneath the eye.

Local pediatrician, reported that unless the dog is found the girl will have to begin anti-rabies shots. The dog, about two feet high with a long tail and pointed nose, is brownish blonde, apparently a collie.

A clerk in a nearby store said the dog, a very well kept animal, could be seen waiting for a customer inside the establishment. After biting the girl, the dog disappeared north on Edison avenue.

Anyone having information about the dog or its whereabouts should call the Casey's at WE 1-2289.

Chaplain Richmond H. Hilton is officiating at 3 o'clock before the altar decorated with vases of red, white and blue carnations and greenery. Mrs. Hilton is the organist for the selections "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride, to be escorted by her father, is wearing a floor-length gown of Chanticleer over peau de soie. It is designed with long tapered sleeves and a scoop neckline. The crescent waistline tapers to a chapel train in the back and is enhanced with a small sweetheart bow. White carnations, stephanotis and an orchid are in the bride's bouquet.

Miss Ella Elaine Lewis, a cousin of the bride, is maid of honor and her brother, Craig Lewis, is best man. The maid of honor is in a long gown of empire style, with short sleeves, a round neckline and a blue chiffon crown hat. Her flowers are white carnations tinted blue.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lewis chose a two-piece ensemble of powder blue lace over peau de soie.

After the ceremony the wedding party is to pass through the traditional arch of crossed sabers with fellow officers forming the honor guard. They are:

After a ride around the Depot in a huge Army LARC vehicle, decorated in red, white and blue, a reception will be held in the Officers Club. All of the men participating in the wedding are to be in dress blues, with the exception of the best man, who is not in military service.

After a honeymoon in Florida, the newweds will go to Fort Lee, Virginia, for seven weeks and then will be stationed in Germany.

The bride is a graduate of the Frankfurt American high school in Frankfurt, Germany, and was formerly employed at the Frankfurt Area Exchange, Boutique Shop.

Lt. Smith, a nephew of Mrs. M. Lewis, is a graduate of the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., high school. He has been in military service for the past six years and since March has been in Officer Candidate School at Fort Knox, Ky., and at Aberdeen, Md. He was an honor graduate at Fort Knox and was graduated from Aberdeen Monday.

MISS RANFT IS Shower Honoree
Miss Jennifer Jo Ranft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ranft, who has been feted at many pre-wedding parties since announcing her engagement and approaching marriage to Dwight S. Moore, was honoree at still another party Tuesday evening when Mrs. Earl Lewis, Mrs. Edward Juneau and Mrs. Julie Bartels entertained with a shower at the Rose Bowl.

White wedding bells and green streamers were over the gift table, covered with white net with an overskirt of net and lilies of the valley.

Favors were rice packs wrapped in net and trimmed with white ribbon and lilies of the valley. The guests were seated at a large U-shaped table centered with an arrangement of garden flowers.

The gifts for Miss Ranft were presented in a unique fashion by means of the invitations which had been issued to the guests. They were in the form of clocks and were appropriated to each hour designated.

Those present were Mrs. Minnie Richardson, great-grandmother of the honoree, Miss Leona Wintermyer, Miss Ella Voss, Mrs. Chester Baker, Mrs. E. G. Schmitt, Mrs. C. E. MAMA TURTLE and her brood of babies who hatched this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie J. Vaught, 2810 Roosevelt street, after the "nest" had to be moved from a path.

Turtle Eggs Hatch in Yard After 'Nest' is Relocated

The Ernie J. Vaught family at 2810 Roosevelt street is faced with a task of raising four baby turtles, since eggs laid on June 6 hatched this week.

Mrs. Vaught said her daughter, Miss Gloria Allen, found the mother turtle on Memorial Day while returning home from a trip to the Ozarks, and the turtle has become a yard pet.

"We never did get around to naming her, but we have named the baby turtles 'Eenie, Meenie, Myny and Moe'."

Studying up a bit on the habits of the box turtle, Mrs. Vaught found the mother leaves the "nest" after the eggs are laid, and the babies must fend for themselves.

"We've been feeding them lettuce and bread, and hope they become pets like the mother. She only wandered out of the yard once, and then she was returned by a neighbor, since we have our name and address painted on her shell."

Mrs. Vaught added that the eggs were discovered in a hole in sand along a path. "We were planning to build onto our house, and the nest was in the way, so we duplicated it on the south side of the building out of the way, and then began to wait for the day."

She explained the mother turtle was "introduced to her babies, but seemed perplexed and quite indifferent to the whole procedure."

"We find them awfully cute," she added.

All Four Lanes for Weekend

Rte. 270 Bridge to Open Friday Afternoon

The long-awaited opening of Interstate Route 270 west of Mitchell and over the Mississippi River is arriving in time for the Labor Day holiday and a ribbon-cutting ceremony on the west side of the bridge is to be held between 1:30 and 2 p.m. Friday.

For the first day, the four-lane river bridge will be open for only two-lane travel, but plans now call for sand blasting and painting equipment to be removed at the halt of work each day at 4:30 p.m. to open all four lanes.

John W. Laytham, Missouri Highway Department district engineer, said this should permit all four lanes to be open for the holiday weekend—Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Dan R. Dine, 74, of 2712 Denver street, a retired carpenter-supervisor, died at 11:10 p.m. yesterday, at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been a patient for two months. He had been in ill health for the past eight months.

A native of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., Mr. Dine had lived in Granite City for 24 years. He was a member of the Church of Christ, Masonic Lodge 833 A.F. & M., and the Consistory of East St. Louis. He also was a member of Carpenters' Local 633, as are two of his sons, Howard and James Dine of Granite City, who survive.

Before retiring in 1954, Mr. Dine had been employed as carpenter-supervisor in positions at the Chain of Rocks canal locks project; the construction of Standard Steel Spring Co., plant, now Dow Chemical Co.; the 1960-52 expansion project at Granite City Steel Co.; and on the south wing addition of Menard State Penitentiary. Car Battery Stolen bridge, compared to the old Chain of Rocks bridge with its bend, the Missouri engineer pointed out.

Robert Finley, 811 Madison avenue, reported to Madison police at 2:50 p.m. Tuesday, that a car battery was stolen from his 1956 automobile which was parked outside his home. He said the theft occurred after midnight Monday.

The city of Madison stopped charging toll on its Chain of Rocks bridge last month, but is keeping the bridge open to traffic after the new bridge opens.

The future of the old span will be determined at a later date.

New Canal Bridges

With the opening of the new river bridge, motorists also will travel over new twin spans over the Chain of Rocks canal and a stretch of dual roadway between Route Three, west of Mitchell, and the new river bridge—a distance of about 1.5 miles.

Completion of the new river bridge originally was scheduled for 1965, but there were delays due to weather, financial and labor difficulties. The twin bridges over the canal were ready for travel several months ago, as was the 1½-mile roadway.

Area Expansion Foreseen

Construction of the $7,000,000-$10,000,000 river bridge was started late in 1962, and with its opening, industrial, and commercial expansion in the Mitchell area of the Quad-Cities is foreseen.

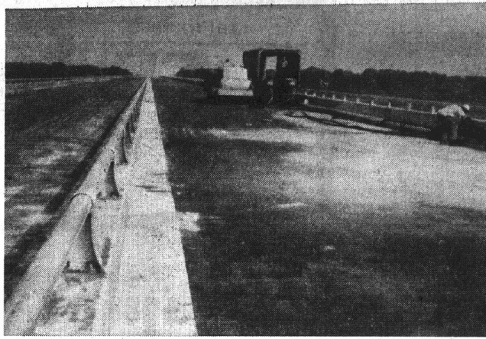

The proposed billion-dollar industrial park along the Chain of Rocks canal and extending east of Mitchell and north to the Hartford diversion canal—9023 acres—is on either side of Interstate Route 270. Announcement of the development was made last January by the Tri-City Regional Port District.

The river bridge had been scheduled to be opened to traffic late in 1965, but work was halted and was not resumed until last May.

Robert Kronst, Illinois district highway engineer from East St. Louis, and members of his staff are to participate in tomorrow's ribbon-cutting ceremony, along with Laytham and other officials at the Missouri highway department.

With the opening of the river and canal bridges, Interstate 270 will extend from Interstate 70 north of Collinsville to Kirkwood, Mo., where it will join Interstate 70.

Interstate routes with 200 numbers are designated as by-passes.

BROAD EXPANSE of the new Interstate Route 270 bridge over the Mississippi River to be opened to traffic about 2 p.m. tomorrow. The rig for sandblasting and painting is to be removed at the end of each work day to open all four lanes to traffic. All four lanes of the free bridge are expected to be open Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

According to all the advertising people this weekend is not a good time to advertise furniture. You've all made other plans. . . . So what do we do? We reduce prices! We make them lower and hotter than ever before so as to entice you to come in and buy during this weekend when nobody is supposed to go out and buy any furniture, appliances or carpeting.

MORE ABOUT

eration should be given to the present street and highway network serving not only the central business district, but the whole community.

Cultural, Medical Services

The Research Bureau said that consideration should be given to a cultural center, an entertainment center and a medical services center in the central business district.

The feasibility of organizing a non-profit corporation to provide land and buildings for a super department store and new and expanded specialty shops should also be considered, the report continues.

The option also requires the organization of the talents and resources of the community into an effective action group, the report states.

"There is a need for more than one organization because of the various and different tasks to be accomplished, but it is recommended that all the planning be coordinated by a central committee."

Project Committees

Special project committees should be formed from time to time to formulate programs and policies, and the researchers suggest the following committees:

Local, state and federal programs.

Traffic problems; Shopper/parking requirements in the central business district.

New Business activities. Development of promotional programs.

Improvement of family living facilities.

Special political programs.

First Option

In the first option considered by the researchers, the present patterned development in the central business district can be emphasized further.

"This involves mainly increasing emphasis on convenience goods and convenience services. But this would basically change the general business function of the CBD to that of a neighborhood shopping center and, in terms of the prevailing economic structure, would require significant alterations in the merchant mix."

"The resulting shopping center would have its base in an area of relatively low to middle socioeconomic groups whose purchasing power is not great enough to provide for growth and development of a mature CBD."

"Stop Gap" Option

The second option was listed as a "stop-gap" operation, designed to activate the people interested in a functionally operative CBD and is essentially designed to prevent a decline in the downtown district role in the area's economic life.

"It calls for some extensive programs to improve the business district and to develop it as a regional shopping center. This would require a minimum of alterations to the area, as:

Improving traffic flow to maximize accessibility to the CBD. Increasing parking facilities within and adjacent to the CBD. Improving the appearance of the CBD.

Encouraging new enterprises to improve merchant mix to attract more shoppers. These include a restaurant and cocktail lounge, super department store, a large supermarket and entertainment facilities.

Promotional Programs

Though physical changes may do much toward future growth and development, the research bureau said, significant promotional programs are equally important.

"People who live and do business in Granite City surely will be able to think of many types of promotional programs that will bring attention to Granite City. But these programs must be carefully conceived, judiciously planned and religiously adhered to."

Examples of programs which could be undertaken in the future include:

An annual high school band review.

Pre-season professional football or basketball games.

Major cultural events (when facilities become available as a great artist series).

A Granite City trading stamp plan, similar to national trading stamp plans.

Positive Attitude Problem

Through promotional planning for a CBD is difficult, according to the report, the most difficult problem is to develop a positive attitude among the CBD merchants in regard to promotional programs since these programs generally represent a fairly significant investment.

"But these promotional programs are directly tied to the long-range program to create an image of the Granite City CBD as a vital center, well suited to meet the needs of the modern family."

The report, prepared under the direction of A. Cockun Samil and Arthur E. Preil, is based on an extensive survey conducted by a graduate team headed by Richard Judd of Granite City.

Reviews Trends

It reviews the history, current business structure and possible future trends of the downtown district and community as a whole which, in retailing phases, places major emphasis on the food and the eating and drinking categories. It shows least emphasis is placed on the general merchandise category which is dominant downtown.

It cites a rapidly growing population trend with an above average income level and credit rating, and physical improvements completed or underway downtown.

The report shows that some of the downtown businesses agree that restaurants, cocktail lounges, a super department store and many small specialty goods and services lines are especially needed.

Consumer Opinions

All those interviewed, including consumers, were consistent in complaints about congested traffic and lack of adequate parking.

The report said that general consumer and shopper attitudes show that downtown "does not seem to be a very attractive place in which to shop. Store loyalty seems to be strong since many who came to the CBD went to a particular store rather than go to the total shopping facility."

Clothing was the main line of goods that shoppers should and could not find according to the report, and courtesy of sales personnel was considered as a most important attribute.

Parking was the weakest point, but accessibility of downtown, selection, merchandising, prices and credit policies also ranked low.

The survey results indicated that persons in the lower socioeconomic group patronize the CBD more frequently than those in the higher groups.

Consumer Recommendations

Many of the consumers interviewed disliked the appearance of downtown and recommended remodeling, clearing streets, eliminating air pollution and changing window displays, according to the report.

They felt that retail establishments needed to add sewing materials, children's clothing, furniture and name brands.

Among services, medical and clinical services, restaurants, entertainment and appliance repair were said to be lacking.

The Research Bureau estimated that Granite City residents spend $33,055,614 in the downtown area for goods and services, but a potential of $50,497,886 remains, and people from outside the city spend about $8 million, while an estimated $12,962,175 more can be spent.

By 1985, if present proportions prevail, expenditures by residents of Granite City are estimated to be between $81,622,880 and $92,131,839, and expenditures by out-of-town residents are estimated to be between $11 and $22 million, according to the report.

MORE ABOUT

of the utility about five years ago.

He was honored on his retirement by employees of the gas and electric company in this area and at a gathering of Illinois Power officers and department heads in Decatur Monday night.

Schmitt almost single-handedly obtained a master sewer and drainage engineering study here in 1943 and aided in securing the original Nameoki stormwater drainage system as well as federally-financed wartime Granite City relief sewers.

In 1944, as chairman of the central control body of all war councils in the Quad-Cities, he led a successful fight against the serious river flood threat. High school students and citizens volunteered to fill sandbags.

Not quite two decades later, he helped obtain a $25,000 federal grant for a master drainage and pollution abatement study.

Post Office, Other Projects

Schmitt was one of those active in efforts to obtain a new Granite City post office, constructed several years ago, to build a lighted fountain as a Granite City war memorial; to develop plans for a 900-acre industrial park immediately north of the Quad-Cities; to commemorate the establishment of the Army Engineer Depot and designation of Granite City as an all-American city; to remodel the YMCA and expand St. Elizabeth Hospital; and to renovate two abandoned cemeteries near local public housing projects.

As a member of the depression-era Citizens' Fiscal Advisory Committee, he helped restore solvency to the city of Granite City, enabling municipal employees to be paid.

Principal founder of the wartime United Services Organization, he made numerous trips to Chicago at his own expense in starting and equipping USO facilities at the YMCA. He served as president of the Community Chest and headed its campaign one year and its budget committee five years.

He served on the Community Chest, United Fund, YMCA, Red Cross, Girl Scout Council and Co-ordinated Youth Services boards and on the Metropolitan Plan Association and its Highway committee.

A two-term member of Com-its board of directors and is chairman of the Chamber's industrial development committee.

David Taylor, 53, Stricken While Boating, Dies

David D. Taylor, 53, of 148 Central avenue, Mitchell, died about 2:15 p.m. yesterday, an hour after he was rushed by auto to the Ellis Hospital. He was stricken with an apparent heart attack while boating on the Mississippi River with his wife and two children.

Mrs. Taylor said her husband collapsed as they were on the river north of the Chain of Rocks bridge, where their company, Mrs. Frank Brickey of St. Louis, was water skiing.

"We were planning to land on an island for lunch when my husband was stricken. He was able to turn the boat toward the shore, and a guided it to Jarco's landing and made it safely," Mrs. Taylor added.

She and Mrs. Brickey placed the auto and rushed him to the local hospital. Taylor said her husband, a welder at General Steel Industries, had not been ill.

He was born in Decatur, Ill., and lived here about 30 years, moving to the Quad-Cities from Michigan. For three years, he taught welding at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

His sole survivor is his wife, Lettie.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Jaycee 'Rest Stop' Plans Cancelled

Earl Dotzauer, Granite City Jaycees public relations officer, announced today that the planned "Operation Rest Stop" scheduled for this weekend has been cancelled. The cancellation came as a result of the new interstate 270 river bridge being opened this weekend.

"We felt there might be too much confusion," Dotzauer said, explaining that the rest stop tent was to have been erected at the temporary detour intersection of Illinois Highway Route Three north of Granite City.

The Jaycees, however, still plan such a rest stop program, probably for another of the approaching holiday weekends at later dates.

Fourth Ward, 106 Weaver street—police tax: 30 Yes, 65 No and 24 spoiled ballots; general tax: 76, 66 and 27; and street tax: 82, 62 and 25.

Emotions Blamed

City officials are perplexed over the 190 total of spoiled ballots, but agreed that sentiment of voters concerning tax rate increases might have resulted in the emotional writing of "Yes" or "No" instead of use of the proper "X."

The 405 turnout of voters was termed about normal for a special election, and the city council was planning to adopt its 1967 tax levy at tomorrow night's council session based on the outcome of the election. The passage of the levy was postponed.

The special referendum was called after application of the census rider tax rate limitations for the 1965 year cut heavily into the city's tax income and resulted in prospects of a $467,123 deficit next year unless higher tax rates were obtained.

If the tax rates boosts had been approved and levied to the maximum, the city's overall 63.2-cent tax rate could have jumped about 24 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Could Have Meant $83,700

The added income would have been about $83,700 based on the current assessed valuation.

Even with the increase, the city could have expected a deficit next year because of budget increases for the 1966-67 fiscal year.

Funds received from operation of McKinley Bridge have not been available to apply toward regular city operating costs, because all capital expenditures are made out of the $100,000 received annually by the city.

These have included construction of the new city garage and firing range, purchase of the street department's payload truck and a new back-loader garbage truck.

In addition, bridge revenue has gone into a $420,000 fund which the city must keep in escrow as its share of the cost of construction of the proposed Broadway bridge, construction of which may start next year.

In October, the city's usual $100,000 payment had been planned to go into the underpass fund, making the $420,000 total needed.

It is the duty of the of its board of directors and is chairman of the Chamber's industrial development committee.

SOCIETY

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 20 Thurs., Sept. 1, 1966

Luncheon Honors Mrs. Andria

Macedonian-Bulgarian Ladies Aid Society committee members met with Mrs. Nivenka Kacaleff, 1301 Iowa street, Wednesday.

A special 12:30 luncheon was served in honor of the president, Mrs. Mary Andria, who had just celebrated her 50th wedding anniversary Aug. 28. A gift was presented to Mrs. Andria from the club members.

The luncheon table was adorned with a floral centerpiece. Mrs. Kirchhoff assisted the hostess in serving the luncheon.

A short meeting was held, with the secretary, Mrs. Milka Kiyasheff, and Mrs. Kacaleff giving reports.

Keep It Clean Briefs

School fashions go from Sewing Machine to Washing Machine. Economy-minded mothers can save money by making youngsters' back-to-school togs—and by making sure to use long-wearing, washable fabrics.

There is news this autumn in paisleys, cotton quilts, corduroys and bonded knits. Color choices include grape, plum, purple, olive, brown, ruby and cranberry reds, bright orange.

Combine contemporary styles with practical fabrics for a body et booster—and make wider-than-usual seams and hems if there is another school-age youngster coming up to inherit the clothes next year.

Teach your little girl cooking and cleanliness at the same time. If she shows any interest in the kitchen, let her help you to plan the week's menu in advance. Then select one item a day that she is able to do—such as ready-mix biscuits or a salad—let her do it "all by herself."

But be sure to stipulate that washing the bowls, pots, pans, and utensils she uses is her responsibility. Whether she washes them with a brush, sponge-on-a-stick, or dishcloth, the hot sudsing and rinsing are always the same.

To keep marble lustrous, experts recommend wetting the surface with clean water, then washing it with soap or detergent suds. Apply the suds with a wad of lamb's wool, a sponge, or a lint-free cloth. Rinse thoroughly, and use a soft dry cloth to buff the marble to a gloss.

Granulated household cleaning products are made by pumping hot liquid soap or detergent up to the top of a tall tower. It is then sprayed through steel nozzles under high pressure and falls as a fine mist in which hot air dries the spray into tiny granules.

When washing foundation garments by hand, the first step is to use a well-lathered brush to pre-treat waistband, parters, fabric castings, inner panels, and shoulder straps. Then immerse the garment in clean soap or detergent suds, squeezing gently to remove dirt. If quite soiled, give it a second dunking in clean suds. Rinse the piece in lukewarm water, lift it out, and let it drip for a few seconds. Next, roll it in a towel to remove excess moisture. Unroll, stretch and shape with your hands, and let it dry away from heat.

Once the washing suds have been rinsed out of fabric gloves, they can be reshaped under running warm water. Let this flow through each glove to inflate the fingers and hand cavities. The water pressures smoothes the fabric and straightens the fingers so the gloves need no finger-pressing after being drip-dried.

On a "simmer" day, the look of linen is as refreshing as cool water on the wrist. Another of linen's virtues is its wonderful washability. Whether suiting weight or gossamer sheer, linen comes through soap or detergent suds with all its original loveliness. In fact, its appearance is enhanced because washing gives it a softer, more luxurious "hand" and it won't "wilt" even after repeated sudsings. So don't wear linen "just once more" before washing. Instead, preserve its crisp freshness by keeping it clean.

Seersucker—perhaps the original wash-wear fabric—now comes in a knitted version. Watch for this Arnel fabric made into wrinkle-free dresses, sportswear, and loungewear in a brilliance of color—all machine-washable and no-iron.

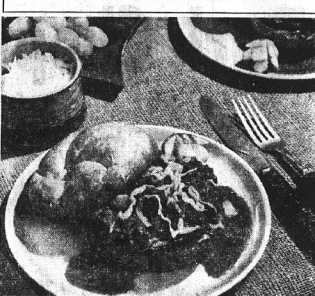

Autos Collide Today

Early today a two-car collision occurred at Fourth and Broadway, Venice, involving autos of Robert E. Mosley, 45, of 1208 Logan street, Madison, and Marcell Farrar, 52, 1112 Calhoun street, Madison. Venice police said that Mosley was traveling east on Broadway while Farrar was going north on Fourth street. Minor damage was reported to both vehicles.

Too Many Passengers

Mervin Wayne Lee, 707 Twenty-seventh place, was arrested at 8:55 p.m. Tuesday at 24th street and Madison avenue on charges of having more than two passengers on a motorcycle and driving with a revoked license and driving with improper tail lights. He was summoned for a hearing by Sept. 22.

Enjoy Double Beef Flavor in These New Sandwiches

Hungry for some hearty-good knife 'n' fork eating? Then help yourself to robust Bavarian Beef Sandwiches—split and toasted hard rolls piled high with a delicious combination of ground beef, shredded cabbage, and rich canned beef gravy. Here's a sandwich filling with character—thanks to the house-style goodness imparted by luscious canned beef gravy.

This gravy is ready to lend flavor whenever you want true roasting pan taste and aroma. Just open the can and you have a smooth, savory "topper" for sandwiches and potatoes... and don't overlook it for "soothing" your favorite skillet and main dishes, too.

After you've spooned the beef sandwich filling onto the bottom half of the roll, shower it with Cheddar cheese and then top with remaining half roll. Serve accompanied by crisp radishes, tall glasses of milk.

BAVARIAN BEEF SANDWICHES

1 pound ground beef
2 cups chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) au jus beef gravy
2 cups shredded cabbage
6 round hard rolls, split and toasted
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In skillet, brown beef and cook onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Stir in gravy and cabbage. Cook over medium heat for 10 minutes. Spoon 1/2 cup mixture on each bun half, top with cheese and other bun half. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Handy helper: Substitute 6 hamburger buns, split and toasted, for round hard rolls in above recipe.

Born in Lletown, Ky., Mr. Ennis had lived here for 18 years. He also had resided in Houston, Tex. Prior to becoming ill, he had been employed for 10 years as a foundry clerk at General Steel Industries. Mr. Ennis was a veteran of world war II and a member of the Forget-Me-Not Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of East St. Louis; and the Calvary Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Louise A. (Brooks) Ennis; three daughters, Dianne Ennis, 12 years, at home, Miss Sharon Ennis and Mrs. Virginia

Condon, both of Houston, Tex.; his mother, Mrs. Bessie (Slinker) Aloisio, Channel View, Tex.; and one grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

The use of psychic energizers and tranquilizers in veterans administration hospitals has permitted the treatment of twice as many psychiatric patients with no increase in hospital beds.

How to Separate Almost Anything

(American Chemical Society)

Ever separate a yolk from an egg, a potato from its skin, or a pair of quarrelling children? Tricky, but not too difficult. How about separating sugar that's been mixed with salt, or butter blended with margarine? It may sound impossible, but a chemist is ridiculously simple.

He has to contend with much trickier problems every day. For example, finding a speck of protein in a pound of "junk," removing gasoline from crude petroleum, desalting sea water, or snatching pure oxygen out of air. Sooner or later every chemist comes up with a mixture of chemicals that he wants to separate. Necessity being the mother of invention, he has devised many ways to do the job.

Chromatography Discovered
One way was provided by a Russian botanist, Mikhail Tsvett, who wanted to separate a mixture of the pigments in plant juices. Willing to try anything once, Tsvett let the mixture trickle through a vertical tube filled with aluminum oxide powder. To his surprise, when he washed the tube with pouring liquid through it, a beautiful series of colored bands appeared.

Each pigment had been absorbed on the aluminum oxide powder to a different degree, and the water had washed the less tenacious pigments farther down the tube. Tsvett named this new separation technique chromatography, from the Greek for "written in color."

Although unappreciated until after Tsvett's death in 1920, chromatography is now used in practically every chemical laboratory. A host of materials, in addition to aluminum oxide, now enable the chemist to separate almost anything.

In one variation, called paper chromatography, filtering paper strips are used. A drop of the mixture to be separated—say, a mixture of proteins—is spotted at the top of the strip and then washed down with a carefully chosen liquid. In a few hours, spots appear at different distances down the paper, each corresponding, hopefully, to a different protein.

Use of Membranes
Membranes are also weapons at the chemist's disposal. These may be made of cellophane, wax casings, or as chemical Engineering News recently reported, plastics "custom tailored" for a particular job. The membrane is placed between solvent containing the material to be separated. The separation process will have different names depending on the conditions and the type of membrane used, namely:

If solvent seeps through the membrane, leaving the material behind, then it's osmosis. But if, instead, the material goes through the membrane, it's called dialysis.

The most spectacular application of dialysis is the artificial kidney. This device does what a normal kidney does, namely, takes impurities and wastes out of the blood stream. Unfortunately, it's an artificial device that costs for one person varying from $8000 to $12,000 a year.

Cheaper Artificial Kidney?
But there is some hope in sight. Columbia University recently announced a program to develop a disposable artificial kidney made of cardboard and cellophane.

Scientists have devised several attempts to persuade the right materials to move through a membrane in reverse osmosis. Pressure is used to force liquid through the membrane.

Another technique, electrodialysis, in which an electric current supplies the kick, is helping several communities produce drinking water from salty water. Electrodialysis is also being used to take excess acid out of orange and grapefruit juices.

Molecular Sieves
Molecular sieves are another part of the chemist's bag of tricks. They enable a chemist to sift out molecules according to size and shape.

Each sieve is actually a porous solid material containing millions of identical spaces interconnected by channels. These channels contain different sized spaces and channels.

Some molecules are too big and can't get into a sieve. Others, being too small slip through. The rest are trapped in the sieve and stay there until the chemist removes them.

By fitting the right sieve to a particular problem, a chemist can extract the molecules he wants.

For example, molecular sieves can be used to pluck oxygen out of the air, remove water from a gas stream, or separate the powerful gasoline by sifting out the "weaker" ingredients.

Sharp Contrast in Labor Days

Of The Past and Present

As late as the mid-1930s Labor Day in the Quad-Cities brought with it the reverberations of thousands of marching feet.

Men of each craft and industry, garbed in their work attire, paraded through the Quad-Cities in an impressive display of unity and of the great volume of construction and production tasks carried out in this community.

Many will hearken back nostalgically in their thoughts to past Labor Days during the three-day holiday this weekend, but the changed circumstances are not all bad.

With increased leisure and decreased physical burdens, a new world has been opened to all who labor. Their varied vocations bring an unprecedented amount of goods and services to not just a favored few, as in past "enlightened eras," but to the masses.

Their very awareness of the "finer things of life" and their greater mobility have contributed to the decline of holiday generally as a time to plan major community-wide celebrations. Time off, for relaxation, recreation or travel, is now one of the most highly prized of all of the fruits of gainful labor.

(Bartwell, Ga., Sun.)

Senator Strom Thurmond, a structural manager $4000 was hired to be reckoned with when it comes to bureaucratic abuse of public funds, recently pointed out some enlightening facts concerning the Office of Economic Opportunity, which is charged with the responsibility of administering many other things, the "war on poverty."

In his report to the people of South Carolina, Thurmond said, in part:

"The bureaucratic irresponsibility which prevails under the OEO is illustrated by the salary scales paid. In OEO, there is one super-grade (high pay level) of $14,000 for 18 ordinary employees."

"By comparison, the ratio in the Department of Agriculture is 1 to 30, and in the Department of Defense the ratio is one super-grade employee for every 100 ordinary employees."

"Poverty officials draw fantastic salaries. Forty-four OEO officials in Washington draw almost $1 million annually."

"The Deputy Director draws $28,500 and three other assistants draw $27,000 each. Of 40 others, nine get $24,000; 11 get $21,445 and 20 get $18,835."

"No 'Poverty' on Payroll"

The high salaries are not confined to Washington OEO workers, however. In one area, a "poverty grant" of $2,159 was received. Of this, $56,723 was budgeted for salaries, leaving only $54,577 for operating expenses.

When complaints were made because the payroll of the Community Renewal Team of Great Hartford (Conn.) was running over $800,000, almost half the money received from Washington, the program's boss retaliated that he was doing quite well because the national figure showed that about 90% of the total poverty program represented salaries.

Most of the OEO's programs were untried in practice, Senator Thurmond added, it was to be expected that the best talent available would be sought to work with the programs.

OEO's salary scales cannot be justified on this basis, however, in one OEO project, employees' salaries averaged 57% higher than those received by employees prior to going to work for OEO.

For instance, a welding instructor making $3300 was hired for

SOCIETY

St. John Guild Resumes Meetings

The Evening Guild of St. John United Church of Christ resumed meetings for the fall and winter Monday in the church Fellowship hall after the summer recess. Twenty-eight were present.

A pot luck supper was enjoyed by the group at 6:30, followed by the business session and program.

Mrs. Thelma Suss, president, opened the meeting and plans were discussed for activities during the coming season.

Mrs. Gail Cross from Kinder Cottage in East St. Louis, a kindergarten for underprivileged children, was guest speaker. She told of the work at the Cottage and showed slides of the children and their work.

Mrs. Jo Ann Schindler introduced the speaker. The members celebrating birthdays in June, July and August were recognized. They were Mrs. James Rose Marie Bauer, Velma Farrance, Marcia Buenger, Doris Oliver, Sandra Meyer, Mary Hoekstra, Pearl Giffin, Wilma McQuiney and Georgia Surbey.

The dinner committee for the meeting was composed of Mrs. Farrance, Mrs. Lois Wetton, Mrs. Helen Robertson, Mrs. Neida Hentzel, Mrs. Hoekstra and Mrs. Henrietta Odum.

RETURN FROM OZARK HONEYMOON
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dawson, who were married recently at Grace Baptist Church, have just returned from a honeymoon in the Ozarks and are residing at 3394 Kirkpatrick Homes. The Rev. Clifford Mueller officiated at the ceremony Friday.

Concentration on Driving is Key Tip For Labor Day Holiday Accident Prevention Concentration is a key to safe driving, officers of the Quad-City Safety Council are stressing for the forthcoming Labor Day holiday weekend.

With no community-wide celebration planned in the Quad-Cities for the weekend, a larger number of area residents are expected to "hit the road."

"Many drivers starting for the long holiday weekend will be thinking of the fun they're going to have at their destination, forgetting to get their safety concentration," council officials emphasize.

They note that inexperience accidents during long holiday weekends as the roads are clogged with persons less used to driving than the hardened commuters who encounter the problems during the week.

Plans for the weekend, the council suggests, should be for daytime travel. "It's a simple matter of statistics that night driving is more hazardous than daytime driving—especially on unfamiliar roads encountered by holiday weekend drivers."

With the Labor Day holiday weekend, well known to be the "swan song" for summer trips and excursions for most families, the exercising of extra care on the highway is needed for safe trips.

Restless children add to driver distraction, and it is suggested that games and other amusements designed for car travel can keep youngsters quietly under the seatbelts for the long weekend trip.

Other tips offered drivers by the local safety council are:

Questions on Medicare Answered by Expert

This is the fourteenth in a series of articles by Ralph Brasher, Social Security district manager in East St. Louis, on how Medicare works.

Even after everything about Medicare has been explained, people are still apt to have questions about specific parts of the program. Therefore, this final article is devoted to some of the questions that may arise. If you have questions about these questions, get in touch with the social security office.

Medical Insurance Plan
Q. Is there a dollar limit to the amount my medical insurance will pay each year?

A. No. There is no dollar limit on the amount that your medical insurance will pay for necessary care. The only exception is the yearly limit for Veterans Administration hospitals for mental illness. The maximum payment that medical insurance can make in any year for these services, after the $50 deductible is met, is $250; or 50% of the reasonable charges, whichever is less.

Q. If I need an operation and my family doctor refers me to another doctor to perform the operation, will my medical insurance cover the fees from both my own doctor and the surgeon?

A. Yes. It also covers the fees for the services of other doctors, such as anesthesiologists, radiologists, or pathologists who may be required in connection with your operation and further hospital care. Thus, you may receive covered services from a number of physicians in connection with your stay in the hospital. The bills may be sent to you by these physicians or the hospital may bill you on their behalf.

Q. If I have a number of small medical bills, should I wait until they go over the $50 deductible to put in a claim for medical insurance?

A. Yes. We believe that most people will prefer to wait until the bills go over $50 since no payment can be made until the $50 deductible is met. Also, by waiting you avoid filling out extra claim forms.

Q. What happens if I want to assign my medical insurance benefit to a doctor; but he doesn't want to accept an assignment?

A. A doctor is not under any obligation to accept an assignment of your medical insurance benefits. If he prefers to have you pay him directly, you should either get an itemized receipted bill from him or ask him to complete Part II of your Request for Payment form. Then send in the claim for payment.

Q. If I assign the medical insurance benefit to my doctor, does this mean that all my future medical benefit claims must also be handled on an assignment basis, or can I make future claims myself?

A. Each claim is handled separately. You may make some claims yourself when you pay the bill and use the payment to the doctor method for other claims. The choice depends on how you and your doctor agree to have the payment made. Frequently it may be more convenient to use the payment to the doctor method for larger bills, since under this method the patient does not have to pay the doctor and wait to be reimbursed.

Q. What can I do if I disagree with the amount allowed on my medical insurance claim?

A. Write to the organization which handled the claim, and tell them why you disagree with the amount allowed. If you're still not satisfied after getting their reply, you can request a hearing. The hearing on such a medical insurance claim is held by the Social Security Administration.

This concludes the series on "Your Medicare Handbook." I hope these articles will help you use your Medicare guide. If more questions come up between now and then, write, call, or visit the social security office at 435 Missouri avenue, Room 300, 1st Federal Bldg., East St. Louis, Ill., telephone BR 4-2200 or Express 75530.

Differing Views By Circuit Clerk, Auditing Firm

Willard V. Portell, circuit clerk, has answered charges made by auditors R. C. Scheffel & Co with a letter saying, "In some cases your firm seems to dictate policy, which, in my opinion, should be done by county officers and the board of supervisors."

Portell said he would continue his present investment policy, which he said brings additional income to the clerk's office and to Madison county. His investment policy was one area Scheffel criticized in a report this month.

"It was the first official to start investing funds from the office into banks in Madison county," Portell said.

"After carefully reading the recommendations and statements concerning the office of the circuit clerk, I wish to thank you very much for your suggestions on better bookkeeping," the letter reads.

"This office will make every effort to comply with same. I consider an audit of all county offices a fine thing. However, any report which was made public needs a few comments and corrections by the circuit clerk's office."

"In your report, a statement that two new divisions, Bail Bond and Passports, were created because of the work requirements of an extra employee was an error by your company, and it should be publicly corrected."

Staff Size Reduced
"These two bookkeeping divisions were only added duties to two employees, and it allowed us to reduce our force by one employee in the Central Traffic Division."

"This change was decided by the county auditor, John Kraynak, the auditing company and myself for better bookkeeping procedures and to reduce the workload of the auditing committee. It has well served its purpose," Portell said.

Scheffel also recommended that frequent supervisory internal examinations of area offices be made. Portell says, "We are making very frequent supervisory internal examinations of area offices. The only office in which we found irregularities was discovered by the circuit clerk and the county auditor, and we requested a separate audit by your company."

"This was not mentioned in your report. Incidentally, I feel that the $314 charged for a one-day audit, of which we made all preliminary steps here in this office and the county auditor's office, was a little high," Portell said.

At this point Portell made the statement about the auditors apparently trying to "dictate policy."

Portell concluded, "With these exceptions, I accept all recommendations and will discuss them with county committees and office personnel involved for more efficiency in our office. It also would have been well for you to note in your report of our efforts to keep our budget as low as possible, and also our record-breaking excess fees for 1965."

Higher Interest Urged
The audit said that "investments of the office of the clerk of the circuit court in bank time certificates and savings accounts earned 1% to 4%. We recommend that the investment policy be studied with a view toward increasing the rate of return."

"The accounting methods of the circuit clerk's office were changed and revised a number of times during the year and were extremely difficult to follow."

"It appears that a deficiency (excess of liabilities and amount due on semi-annual report over cash and investments held) existed at Nov. 30, 1965, probably the result of an accumulation of errors in the preparation of prior semi-annual reports."

"We recommend that the general ledger which we have assisted in installing in the circuit clerk's office be maintained and the detailed liabilities of the office be checked against the control accounts monthly. Proper use of the general ledger will produce accurate financial reports."

"Area offices of the magistrate division should be more closely supervised as to accounting records and accountability of funds. We recommend that frequent supervisory examinations be made of the area offices."

"We found several checks signed in blank. This practice should be eliminated."

Waterways Operators Making Book Available

A cloth-bound hard-cover edition of "Big Load Afloat", the story of U. S. inland water transportation resources, has just been published for use in libraries, Braxton B. Carr, president of The American Waterways Operators, Inc., announced today. The 106-page book is a publication of the nationwide shallow-draft water carrier association. The periodical's descriptive text is illustrated with photographs, charts and maps to dramatize the role of the inland waterways industry in the economy of the United States. The book tells how and where 20,000 towboats, tugboats and barges are operated by 80,000 skilled men and women over 25,800 miles of commercially navigable waterways to produce almost 10% of the nation's domestic commerce. How the inland channels are built and maintained is explained in detail.

Copies are available upon request to The American Waterways Operators, Inc., Suite 502, 1250 Connecticut avenue, Washington, D. C. 20006.

CALL YOUR REALTOR MORRIS REALTY CO. TR 6-4400

There are two Nauvoos.

There is the bustling little village at the top of the hill with its fine restaurants, businesses of various types and the imposing St. Mary's Academy straddling the main thoroughfare. This is the Nauvoo where streets and city walks are filled each Labor Day weekend with thousands of happy visitors who join in the community's famous celebration of the "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese."

At the foot of the hill is the other Nauvoo. Dozens of sturdy, well preserved, but largely empty brick houses are evidence of a great city that closed down one winter night in 1846 and never re-opened.

Here you see a ghost town. Unlike other ghost towns, the residents did not leave one by one in search of greater economic opportunity.

Industry was thriving, agriculture was expanding and Nauvoo, inhabited by the Mormons for seven short years, had a population of 38,000.

It was the largest city in Illinois when the Mormon mass exodus took place. Only the movement of some early Indian tribes parallels this exodus in American history. And the Mormons left in response to much the same sort of pressure.

In another way Nauvoo of the Mississippi flats differs from abandoned western mining towns.

The Mormon builders had done their work well and the rugged brick dwellings for the most part stand plumb and square as they were built more than a century ago.

They are being carefully and scientifically restored. The visitor today finds the interiors of many of these homes have been restored and furnished with beautiful antiques.

Influence of Icarians
Here and there you will find

TWO NAUVOOS. A boy and girl, dressed in French Icarian costume, symbolize Nauvoo's annual Labor Day weekend festival, "The Wedding of the Wine and Cheese." The grapes they're sampling in Nauvoo State Park vineyard also await the taste of visitors to the picturesque Mississippi River community.

reflected in the area the influence of the Icarians who moved into Nauvoo after the Mormons in communal living did not last had yielded to the pressure of long. The vineyards they planted their disapproving Illinois neighbors were supplemented by French and German settlers in the late 1800s and the wine industry became a healthy one.

Today, Nauvoo is the site of the only bonded winery in Illinois.

Later, discovery that the abandoned mine shafts in the Nauvoo area made perfect aging places for the local Roussette-like Nauvoo Blue Cheese led to another profitable industry. This cheese factory in Nauvoo is open to the public.

Nauvoo, on any day, is a laboratory for the student of American and Illinois religious history.

Nauvoo, on Labor Day week, end, is a delight for the tourist. For many years the citizens of the town have celebrated the "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese," using the usual trappings of parades and bands.

Not so usual, however, is the tremendous pageant on the huge "Sod" stage of the natural amphitheater in Nauvoo State Park.

Historical Pageant
Whole bands of Indians sweep down the hills which are the wings of the stage. Troops of horsemen and authentically costumed actors participate in exciting episodes depicting the history of the region.

Nauvoo State Park is one of the loveliest in Illinois. It has ample picnicking and camping facilities and a fine museum. Ten hours posted on the museum are little more than a formality.

If the museum is closed when you visit there, stop in at the Chamber of Commerce downtown and a friendly, well-informed guide will escort you through the museum and provide you with a history of the village.

If you visit Nauvoo in the fall, save time to visit the vineyard in the Park. Its presence there surprises many. The reason for the vineyard is to give visitors a chance to walk through the vines and to eat their fill of the piquant Nauvoo grapes.

As a part of your Nauvoo visit, preferably on your way, you should plan to stop at the jail in the nearby town of Carthage, where Joseph Smith, the prophet of Mormonism, and his brother were shot by a band of Illinois citizens masquerading as Indians. This is not a pleasant part of Illinois history, but it is a fascinating and important one.

Just as there are two Nauvoos, there are two branches of the Latter Day Saints, generally known as the Mormon Church. Both organizations—the followers of Joseph Smith's son who went south into Missouri and the followers of Brigham Young who journeyed on to Utah—maintain offices and offer guided tours in Nauvoo.

For further information, write to the Nauvoo Chamber of Commerce.

Over 100 Riders Compete in 6th Annual GC Rotary Horse Show

THE GRAND ENTRY of the Granite City Rotary club's sixth annual Horse Show, in which over 100 horses and riders took part. Some of the contestants in various events of the show came here from as far away as Texas. In the top right photograph, one of a group of Sisters from St. Elizabeth Hospital listens to Sunday's Cardinal baseball game in between events at the horse show. Proceeds from the show will be used to purchase an electroencephalograph machine for the hospital. In the adjacent photograph, both horse and rider strain to clear one of the obstacles in the Open Jumpers event.

MISS GRANITE CITY (left) is being helped on a horse by the owner, John Wardlow. She rode the steed in the opening ceremony of the horse show. Miss

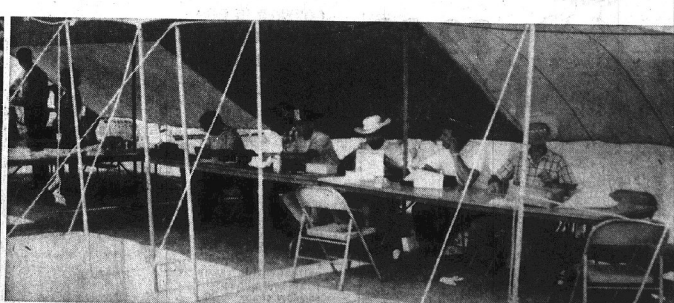

Granite City, Lois Huelskamp, and members of her court also were on hand to award prizes to finalists in the 16 events. The next sequence of photographs show the different techniques used by riders in the Flag Race. This event requires the contestant to secure a flag from one barrel, as the above riders are doing, make a round of the arena and place the flag in another barrel—all in a race against the clock.

High School Fashions for Coeds Are Short, Snappy

High school coeds with youth on their side are showing it in selecting back-to-school clothes with short and snappy style, as well as distinct imagination, according to Mrs. Catherine Mauek, Madison county home adviser.

Sports, semi-casual and dress clothes are styled, scaled and sized for teen, pre-teen and junior sizes. And, the variety is outstanding.

In sports clothes, it's pants, pants and pants suits. They really make the grade this semester in straight legs, bell bottoms, hilly bumps, stope tops, hip-riders and standards.

Generally, the fashion fabrics are wearable. Many slacks, jackets, skirts, shirts and blouses also feature a durable press finish. When combined with washability, this makes for extended life clothes for action-prone girls.

Wardrobe of Blouses
A wardrobe of blouses and skirts is essential to any teenager. These mix, match and mingle colorfully with companion skirts, shorts, suits and slacks to give great fashion variety to year-round school wear.

Blouses and shirts come in cotton voiles, broadcloths and lawns; also in heavier textures and weights of fiber combinations. Design highlights are the small-figured granny styles, tiny prints, mini-figures, multi-florals and Victorian motifs in a full range of colors. Engineered washability makes for light work on laundry days.

Knits continue to have the "knack" for high schoolers who wash and wear them to all types of activities—from classroom to country dances to Saturday games. Favored knits include A-line jumpers, poncho sweaters and short-skirt sets, slacks sets, light-weight jackets and toppers, full-length stretch hose and textured hosiery.

Rain, Sportswear
Pretty, practical vinyl plastic—important on the teen scene in rainwear and sportswear—can also be bought by the yard for sewing back-to-school clothes at home. Clear vinyl jumpers make news when worn over one-piece knits, or sweater and skirt sets—to keep these outfits clean while working in the kitchen or at hobbies.

This year will be a fashionable one for the high schooler. So, before shopping for or sewing for back-to-school wear, she and mother would be wise to discuss the merits of durable press, washability and variety in assembling a basic, practical school wardrobe.

5 GC Youths Attend Lutheran Convention

Five Granite City youths were among more than 400 Southern Illinoisans of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod attending their annual convention recently at the Monticello College campus, Godfrey.

They are Arlene Klug, Mary Holten, Phyllis Hartmann, Margaret Holten and Mark Twietmeyer, who were accompanied by Pastors Arvin Twietmeyer and Alfred Bula.

The theme of the convention was "One Way Through Christ." The program included a brief business meeting, a Bible study on the gospel of John, followed by dramatic presentations on the study, a report by Sanfra Twietmeyer, young Prince of Peace volunteer, who has been working in the Chicago area, and a closing outdoor service of Holy Communion.

Why you see this on more new homes every year

This Medallion is your proof of electrical excellence in a home. The number of Medallion Home awards has increased every year for the past 10 years. For instance, in 1965 Illinois Power awarded this Medallion to 24% more homes than in the previous year.

There's a good reason: more and more families today look for value when they invest in a home. And more and more quality builders are proud to include the Medallion Home features that guarantee real value in a new home investment.

The Medallion tells you that Illinois Power certifies that the home has been built to specific electrical standards including adequate wiring, heavy duty circuits, special purpose and general purpose circuits, modern lighting throughout and at least four major electric appliances including an electric range.

Yes, it's easier to find a Medallion Home today because both home buyers and home builders appreciate the assurance of this symbol of excellence. Insist on a Medallion Home when you build or buy.

"SCHOOL'S OPEN," TIMELY MESSAGE FROM AUTO CLUB

The population explosion means more children than ever before will be making the journey to the classroom this Fall. This is why the AAA, Automobile Club, Illinois Division is launching its 34th annual September "School's Open" campaign by reminding motorists to "Drive Carefully."

Many children will be attending school for the first time, unaware of the hazards in crossing congested intersections, streets and highways. "After a summer of fun and play," said Auto Club Safety Director Stan Keesling, "children sometimes forget to exercise that extra degree of caution necessary when going to and from school, and it is up to the motorist to watch out for children."

In stressing the need for all drivers to be "child alert" this Fall, especially in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds, the Auto Club will post 14,000 posters and will distribute 20,000 bumper strips throughout its territory. In addition, the "School's Open" safety message will be carried on motel and shopping center marquee and on the side panels of milk carts.

Mr. Keesling urges all drivers to cooperate with members of the School Safety Patrol in protecting their classmates. He points out the need for increased safety consciousness on the part of motorists in areas where there are no School Safety Patrols or other means of protection provided to safeguard school children.

Cooperating with the Auto Club in the Fall Safety campaign are city and police officials, school authorities and AAA garages and service stations throughout the area.

Help make this September the safest back-to-school month ever. Remember, "School's Open — Drive Carefully."

Drainage System Planned In Area of Eagle Park

Cleveland L. Johnson, president of Eagle Park Improvement Association, said today that Venice township officials have agreed to install drainage pipes and culverts in a six block area after the necessary materials have been purchased by residents of the unincorporated community.

Between 20 and 25 homes are located in the area, which includes the 300 blocks of Hill, Terry, Harrison, Allen and Watson streets, and the portion of Hare street in the Venice township area.

Johnson said that property owners will be asked to deposit cost of the culverts at the First National Bank in Madison, prior to the street improvement project getting underway. A similar joint program undertaken in the area last year required each family to contribute $36, Johnson said. However, he added, costs to each family for the new project have not yet been determined.

The association president said that he expects no difficulty in the families raising the money, as more than $1000 was contributed by individual homeowners towards the earlier drainage project. He said that installation of the culverts will start after property owners deposit the assessment at the bank and a petition for acceptance is officially filed.

A public meeting to discuss details and costs is scheduled to be held at a later date, he said.

New County Liquor Law To Be Ready in October

A substitute liquor ordinance for unincorporated areas in Madison county may be ready for presentation to the board of supervisors in October.

"I'd like to have the ordinance ready by October," State's Attorney Joseph R. Bartylak comments. He adds: "There is no question" that the ordinance will be presented by at least the close of the year.

However, before the new ordinance is presented to the board, it will be studied by its liquor license committee. If approved, the committee chairman, M. G. Schaefer, will probably present it to the board for a vote.

Drafting of the ordinance is the second attempt to change the present ordinance, which Sheriff Barney Fraundorf considers "unenforceable."

Last March, the county board, in a 30-15 vote, tabled the first proposal. This proposal—sought mainly by Fraundorf and ministerial groups—had been revised several times and was the object of much controversy.

Bartylak, in an April meeting with the liquor license committee, suggested he be empowered to draft an ordinance which might prove acceptable to the sheriff's office, ministerial groups and the tavern operators themselves.

The committee was unanimously in favor of Bartylak's suggestion. It was seen as a move to end the impasse over the first proposal.

"It is my opinion that this ordinance would not be effective until liquor licenses are issued for 1967," Bartylak said. "Anyone issued a liquor license in 1966 is governed by the present ordinance."

Fraundorf at one time enforced the present ordinance by having special deputies make "raids" in taverns after-hours. However, Bartylak told him that such an arrangement would be considered "entrapment" by the courts.

84 Welcomed to Granite City School System Teaching Staff

Granite City School Supt. Russell D. Johnson welcomed 84 new junior high, senior high and elementary teachers to the Granite City School system at a "get acquainted" meeting held in the high school cafeteria on Monday. Johnson said that despite having filled so many teaching positions, the school system is still in need of five more teachers. He added that this is the first time that he has had to begin a school year with an incomplete staff. He also said that among the 1966-67 teachers, several are limited by state law to teaching only 75 days this year as retired teachers returning to active status. Because of these limitations, a more severe teacher shortage may appear later in the school year, he added.

Supt. Johnson said that the teacher scarcity problem is not unique to the Granite City school system, but is common throughout the country. Other speakers at the breakfast were Treasurer Ronald Dillard, representing the school board; Mayor Donald Farney; Morris Helman, representing the Associated-Retailers; and Wilbur R. Trimpe, county superintendent of schools.

2800 Teachers in County
Trimpe said Madison county schools, with 65,000 students and 2800 teachers, are rated as among the top ten in Illinois. Johnson outlined a schedule planned to orient the new teachers to the school system.

The superintendent said that "as educators, we have a tremendous responsibility. On our shoulders lies the responsibility for training those who are the human element of the future."

TOTEM POLE 'RECTED

The figure of Abraham Lincoln on a totem pole has been erected in front of the Illinois State Museum in Springfield. The 50-foot memorial column is a reconstructed model of a totem pole intricately carved by the Alaskan Indians.

The reconstruction was done in durable steel and fiberglass under the supervision of Marion K. Hoffmann. The original carved wood base and Lincoln figure are still preserved by the Museum.

The unusual totem pole commemorates the appreciation of the Alaskan Indians of Lincoln's freeing the slaves.

DEER QUOTAS FILLED

Deer permit quotas have been filled in Rock Island, Tazewell, Hancock and Union counties, the Illinois Department of Conservation has announced.

Nineteen counties are now filled. In northern Illinois they are: Carroll, JoDaviess, LaSalle, Marshall, McHenry, Stephenson and Rock Island.

Central Illinois counties are: Fulton, Mason, Peoria, Hancock and Tazewell. In Southern Illinois: Hardin, Johnson, Monroe, northern Pope, Union, Wayne and Williamson counties.

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED

Applications to hunt on the public hunting areas will be starting this month, William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, announced.

Applications must include the following information: The hunter's name and address, a partner's name and address, the area desired, the date desired and an alternate date in case the area is filled on the desired date.

A hunter should not apply for more than one permit for goose hunting, one permit for duck hunting or one permit for pheasant hunting. Applications will not be accepted by telephone.

Applications for permits should be mailed to: Permit Office, Division of Game, Illinois Department of Conservation, Room 106, State Office Building, 400 S. Spring street, Springfield, Ill.

DEER TICK ABUNDANT
An Illinois newcomer is making his presence known. The lone star tick was found in Illinois for the first time last winter, according to the Illinois Natural History Survey scientists.

Although the lone star tick is primarily a deer tick, it will bite humans and inflict a much more painful bite than that of the common wood tick, Dr. L. J. Starnard, survey entomologist, reports that the bite causes swelling of the skin and severe, prolonged itching. When a lone star tick is pulled off a victim, the beak usually breaks off and remains embedded.

Swim Team Mothers Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Irene Lybarger was named president of the Paddlers' Swim Club at the group's annual election meeting, Monday evening. She succeeds Mrs. Mary G. Noth, of 40 Terrace lane, at whose home the final gathering of the season was held.

Other officers elected, were Mrs. Hedy Barth, vice-president; Mrs. Maryjell Kubelka, secretary; and Mrs. Irene Hatcher, treasurer.

A review of the club's financial status was made, together with reports on accomplishments of the 1966 swimming season. Club members assist the competitive swim team by providing transportation to away meets, arranging annual awards banquet and supervising special activities for participating youngsters.

Fourteen members were served refreshments by the hostess. Regular meetings of the group will be discontinued, it was decided, until immediately prior to the 1967 swimming season.

Donald Hoelscher Back From Vietnam Duty

CS/2 Donald R. Hoelscher, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hoelscher, 112 Central avenue, arrived last week in Tampa, Fla., has been appointed manager of the St. Louis office at 10 South Brentwood Blvd.

Hoelscher, a graduate of the Granite City high school, was met at the port by his wife, Carol, and daughter, Pam. Presently, he is spending a short leave at their home in El Monte, Calif.

During its second assignment in Vietnam, coast waters, the carrier was involved in 8000 combat sorties, including the first bombing raid on June 29 against the oil depots at Haiphong. Hoelscher is a commissary supply officer on board the vessel.

This tick does not seem to be a transmitter of disease although it is a potential carrier of tularemia and Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

For some time the lone star tick has been found in Kentucky and Missouri only a few miles from southern Illinois, but careful searches over the last 20 years revealed no examples of it in Illinois. Last winter, however, G. G. Montgomery, survey wildlife specialist, found the first specimen on a deer in Pope county. This spring and summer he has found others in Pope and Williamson counties.

Venice and EOC Striving to Solve Highway Routing Problem

More than half of the 270 residents of Kerr Island face possible displacement next year when preliminary work begins on construction of Federal Aid Route 151 through the all-Negro community of Venice. City officials and the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission are working to find a solution.

A survey of the island's population, average monthly income and age groups has been completed by the County EOC under the direction of David Walker, Tri-Cities office supervisor.

Walker said today 91 individual families currently make their home on the island, which has been described by county anti-poverty officials as among the most impoverished areas in Madison County. However, other studies have indicated that Kerr Island families, particularly the younger ones, include those with substantial yearly income.

Walker's statistics show that island residents number 101 persons under the age of 20 years, including 62 school-age children, and 63 persons over 50 years of age. The remainder are between 20 and 50 years of age.

Average monthly income is $139, Walker reported that the average length of stay by families on Kerr Island is 25 years, and nine months, while the average income per household is $139 per month.

The county anti-poverty commission undertook the census, Walker explained, in an effort to determine by which means other interested agencies can assist those residents incapable of finding new housing. Numerous Kerr Island residents have sought guidance from the anti-poverty officials on their uncertain future and relocation problems, he said.

City Studying Problems Walker said the city of Venice is conducting an investigation into the possibility of obtaining federal funds to construct a housing project for the elderly, which would accommodate some of the island's older residents.

An urban renewal program, Walker explained, that a federal funds could be appropriated for such a project, with it still re-a current business enterprise.

Three—displaced persons could make their own arrangements for substitute housing, migrating to other areas.

TRi-CITIES EOC OFFICIAL, David Walker points out the general direction the new highway will take to Curtis Welch, 54, a Kerr Island resident for 20 years. In ill health for some time, Welch who lives on Slough road, has no idea where he can relocate. Between 16 and 20 persons live in the same building.

Buchholz, director. All are from St. Louis. Should Venice city officials be Walker explained, in an effort to determine by which means other interested agencies can assist those residents incapable of finding new housing. Walker said that in the latter case, most of those to be displaced by the highway division as placed could be expected to move into the West Madison and North Venice areas, already overcrowded. He cited as an example of the heavily populated conditions in West Madison a recent fire which destroyed a two-story double family dwelling and forced re-housing of 43 persons.

No EOC Funds Walker explained that the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission cannot obtain funds to directly aid in the relocation of families displaced by the new federal highway. However, the county anti-poverty commission has agreed to coordinate assistance from other public agencies, which Walker reported are better equipped and have greater resources to find a south to East St. Louis. solution. Federal Aid Route 151 will connect with the present Route in Venice, just east of Kerr. Three about a mile south of Interstate 270, bypassing Granite City on the west side and slicing through the eastern half of Kerr island before connecting to the McKinley Bridge and going

EOC Planning to Expand Services for Area Residents

Plans to expand services of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission in the Venice-Madison area are being discussed by area residents, members of the local Community Action Council and EOC representatives.

A series of meetings to gather information and devise means of establishing a Neighborhood Services Center currently are under way. One meeting held recently at the West Madison Southern Baptist Church was attended by 60 persons.

David Walker, director of the Tri-Cities EOC, told the West Madison residents that a Neighborhood Services Center is being planned to provide a variety of services for the economically deprived, all of which would be aimed at giving an individual a better opportunity to raise his economic and social level.

Specific programs which may be included in Neighborhood Services Centers here would be pre-school day care centers, civil aid, consumer education, homemaker's services, adult basic education, on-the-job training and counseling, Neighborhood Youth Corps, and health services.

"Such a center will house an interdependent network of service aids designed to meet a broad range of individual and community needs," he pointed out. "The center probably would be at two or three sites to serve the greatest number of people possible who live in the primary target areas of Madison and Venice."

"Answers furnished in a recent house-to-house survey and through comments made by residents during informal discussions will provide the information needed in determining the type of services a center will be giving an individual a better opportunity to raise his economic and social level."

Service Centers must be designed to fit the specific needs of the area. "No one knows better than you just what programs school day care centers, civil aid, consumer education, homemaker's services, adult basic education, on-the-job training and counseling, Neighborhood Youth Corps, and health services.

Proclamation

Labor Day 1966—
"Light Up and Live!"
Safety Campaign

WHEREAS, traffic accidents, injuries and deaths mar the celebration of Labor's great holiday and have in past years continued to claim a toll of victims at a rate that can be diminished with the cooperation of all drivers, and

WHEREAS, we are now preparing for the celebration of this great holiday honoring the dignity of Labor in the weekend from Sept. 2-5, 1966, and

WHEREAS, Gov. Otto Kerner and the State's Official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee on behalf of all of the citizens of the great State of Illinois have proclaimed the period from Sept. 2 through Sept. 5 a time for a statewide "Light Up and Live!" traffic alert, during which time Illinois drivers will turn on their headlights during daylight driving.

NOW THEREFORE, we, the mayors of the Quad-Cities, do proclaim this same "Light Up and Live!" Labor Day holiday safety alert will prevail during these same dates and further recommend that all citizens use this occasion to practice defensive driving and to use their headlights to alert themselves and others to the dangers inherent in holiday traffic.

Character Building through Fun is Aim of Girl Scouts

Fun and training for 2586 girls of the Quad-Cities area were provided during the past year through a United Fund agency—the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council.

This year, the council again has a local United Fund goal of $19,000 to provide the area's share of operating costs. Actual expenses for council-wide operations the past year amounted to $94,521, with the balance coming from United Funds of East St. Louis, Alton, Belleville, Edwardsville and other surrounding communities.

To carry out its program, the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council relies heavily on volunteer service by adults. In the Quad-Cities last year, there were 297 adult leaders for the 119 troops.

All Age Levels Girls in Girl Scouting include tiny Brownies to the near adult Senior Girl Scouts. The program covers all age groups, with the girls progressing from Brownies to Juniors to Cadettes to Seniors.

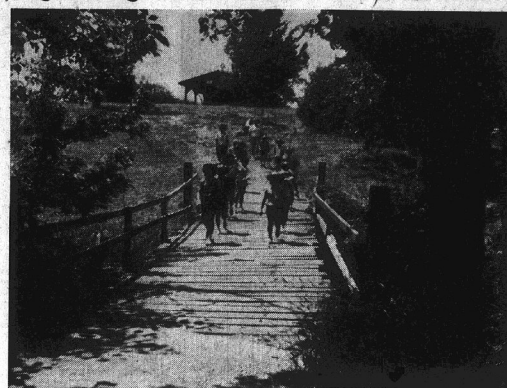

Activities are geared for the age groups, but there also are council and district wide functions for all age levels. The programs for the girls include outdoor camping with 321 local girls taking part in the day camp program and 53 spending a week at an established camp. In addition, there were troop camping schedules for 849 girls.

The entire Girl Scout program is centered around character building for the girls, while at the same time providing fun through the individual troop meetings and district programs.

Nearby Camp For camping, the girls have nearby Camp Lakota at Glen Carbon for day programs and overnight camping.

Other similar camps are maintained by the council for troop and district camping near Belleville, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Millstadt. The established camp is Oatoga at Pere Marquette.

Local district events in the past year were a tree planting ceremony at Lee Park in Venice, distribution of "bunny boxes" to patients at Alton State Hospital at Easter, the Christmas Festi-

Future Crowding Seen At SIU Campus Library

The library at Southern Illinois University's Edwardsville campus—less than a year old—will begin feeling pinched for space by 1970, according to head librarian John Abbott.

Abbott reports the four-story Lovejoy Memorial Library—designed for four more floors to be added—will be "pressing for space" before construction can begin to add the additional floors.

Obtaining funds for expansion takes about four years from the time the need is submitted in SIU's biennial budget request. Abbott said a request for expansion funds will not be submitted until the 1967-71 budget, but that he expects more space will be needed before then.

"I don't think we'll be in a desperate situation by then," Abbott said, "but we do have some problems with space now." He said the current shortage of space in the library will be alleviated when three more buildings on the campus open this year.

University services such as the cafeteria and the university store will move to the new university center building in January, and the library will take over the space they now occupy in the basement.

The library, with 21,000 volumes, has been growing at the rate of 50,000 books a year. The growth rate is expected to drop to about 30,000 to 35,000 volumes per year, however, because a special state fund set up to purchase books when the library opened is virtually exhausted.

"The library is growing somewhat faster than we expected," Abbott said, "but we figured we'd have to expand in about 10 years in any case."

State Lets Contracts For SIU-SW Highways

The Illinois division of highways has awarded two road and bridge contracts to serve the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus, including one for a south access connecting with Highway 157 and Interstate 270 at the interchange near Sunset Hill.

Hoeflen Brothers of Belleville was awarded the contract for paving and grading of the south access road on a bid of $666,000. The work is to be completed by the end of 1967.

The other was awarded to Rex Construction Co. of Dorsey on a $449,420 bid to construct two bridges for the proposed four-lane highway onto the campus to

HAROLD R. SHOAF
New Controller
At Local Hospital

Harold R. Shoaf has been appointed controller for St. Elizabeth Hospital, Sister M. Thomas, administrator announced today. In addition to his duties at the hospital, Shoaf will serve as controller for the St. Louis Province of the Sisters of Divine Providence.

As controller for the hospital, Shoaf will be concerned with the financial operation of the institution as well as various other related aspects of the hospital management including the expansion program.

After graduating from high school in Evansville, Ind., Shoaf served in the U. S. Air Force in 1959. He was graduated from St. Louis University with a BS degree in Accounting and Business Administration. To gain a broad special state fund set up to purchase books when the library opened is virtually exhausted.

"The library is growing somewhat faster than we expected," Abbott said, "but we figured we'd have to expand in about 10 years in any case."

During the past three years, he worked as Provincial Accountant and consultant for the Daughters of Charity. For the present, Shoaf, his wife, Rosemary, and their four children will retain their St. Louis residence.

Plans are being drawn for the four-lane highway, with contracts to be awarded next year. The highway is expected to cost more than $2 million, and the road probably will be open by the end of 1968, according to Robert Kronst, district engineer.

He said they will be fast-moving, modern highways.

Industrial Group Retains Clean Air Expert

Dr. W. L. Faith, a Los Angeles consulting chemical engineer specializing in air pollution control problems and a former consultant to the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District, has been retained as scientific consultant to the Industrial Waste Control Council of the St. Louis and the Illinois areas, it was announced today.

Donald E. Cairns of the Granite City Steel Co. blast furnace division and president of the Waste Control Council, said Dr. Faith is reviewing the final report of the three-year Interstate Air Pollution Study as a preliminary to assisting the industries in developing programs and methods which will enable them to make the most effective contribution to the reduction of atmospheric pollution in the St. Louis area.

Control Regulations
Dr. Faith will also advise the council on air pollution control regulations. The Industrial Waste Control Council represents a broad range of two-state area industry.

Dr. Faith is a former president of the Air Pollution Control Association, the national organization for technical people in the field.

From 1954 until 1961, he was chief engineer and managing director of the Air Pollution Foundation which was financed by business and industry in the Los Angeles area and which worked closely with area control authorities in conducting extensive research into the causes of smog.

Supervised Research
Dr. Faith supervised research projects by Foundation scientists and in contracting laboratories throughout the United States.

Dr. Faith has served as a consultant on air pollution matters to public bodies as well as industries. His clients have included the U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.; the Ventura County Health Department, Ventura, Calif.; the Washington State Department of Health, Seattle; and the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif.

After receiving his PhD in chemical engineering at the University of Illinois, Dr. Faith became an assistant professor and then head of the department of chemical engineering at Kansas State College.

He joined the War Production Board during world war II and became deputy director of the Office of Production Research of the WPB. After the war he became director of development engineering for the Corn Products Refining Co., Argo, Ill.

Dr. Faith is a member of the American Industry of the American Chemical Engineers and the American Chemical Society. He is a diplomate of the American Academy of Sanitary Engineers and the author of numerous publications in the field of air pollution control.

He is a registered professional engineer in California and Illinois.
